Guide

Use this guide as a planning framework. Requirements differ by institution, programme, country, applicant category, and intake. Keep a record of the official source and the date you checked it.

Understanding the total cost

- Separate one-time, recurring, optional, and refundable charges.
- Compare the full programme duration, not only the first semester or year.
- Ask for an official fee schedule with the applicable academic year and intake.

Common fee categories

- Tuition and academic fees
- Registration, examination, laboratory, library, technology, and student-service charges
- Books, supplies, equipment, uniforms, fieldwork, clinical or practical training costs where applicable
- Transport, accommodation, food, utilities, and personal expenses

How to compare offers

- Use the same duration and cost categories for every institution.
- Check whether fees can increase in later years and how increases are announced.
- Record scholarship conditions, payment dates, penalties, and refund rules.
